Manhattan Christian College

*The 1994-1995 Manhattan Christian College Yearbook is dedicated to its Students, Faculty, and Staff.
Together as one . . . through One we can accomplish great things.*

Thank you to all those who helped.

Special thanks to: Jill Ballard for layout designs; Bobby Graham for photography, insight, and patience; Felicity Dunagan for volunteer effort; Mr. Deckard for critiques, pointers, and the use of his printer; Mr. Isom for the use of his printer; Mrs. Warren for critiques; Miss Beddow for her time and help; faculty members for their encouragement, especially Mr. Sullivan; Candi Swickard for her hard work and artistic ability in producing the cover and divider pages; Mandy Parrott for her hard work, dedication, and high spirits in getting the yearbook done.

The biggest thanks goes to GOD!

"Together as One . . .

"And whatever you do, whether in word or deed, do it all in the name of the Lord Jesus . . ."

Below: "Does Cynthia know something that her husband and I don't know about this project?" wonders Lewis Smith about Caesar and Cynthia Harris.

Top Right: "How come I don't have a name card? Jerry Briix is a Muslim, Lorrie (Lynam) Yoakum is a Hindu, and Julie Dulin is a Buddhist, but what about me?" whines Jeff Aenk.

Right: "Hey, Kara! Where's the United States on this globe?" teases Jake Glover. "I can't believe he doesn't know!" thinks Kara Foster.

Classrooms . . .

Below: "Go ahead, Jeff. Kiss him. I dare ya!" challenges Jake Glover to Jeff Isaacs.

Professors show their concern for good education by being constantly on the alert for new ways to present timeless truth to students who will serve in the Kingdom for years to come. The new Vice President for Academic Affairs, Steve Isom, has led a team of five professors in reshaping the internship program. Future internships will be a very valuable part of one's education at MCC, along with the Dual Degree programs with K-State that continue to offer unique opportunities for specialized preparation for service.

Two professors have combined their classes for a simulation to provide a "hands-on" experience in a number of church leadership roles, with plans to include more classes for a broader "hands on" experience.

Another opportunity for MCC students is the new LEAD degree completion program which offers a Bachelor of Science in Management and Ethics. There are currently six classes, four in Manhattan and two in Wichita, with a total of 73 students. The management modules include Intro. to Management & Ethics, Acct. for Managers, and Marketing Concepts. The principles in the ethics modules are drawn from the life and teachings of Jesus and Paul, and many other Christian writings. All students complete a research project working toward the solution of a problem within the work place. Plans for the Fall of 1995 include starting classes in Kansas City and Great Bend, as well as one each in Manhattan and Wichita.

Left: "We have to do what in fourteen months?" gasp Linda Hubbard and Sharon Reed.

Right: "Yeah, hold on, I have someone on the other line," explains Mark Webb.

Below: Tonya Price's famous pastime: talking on the phone.

Bottom Right: "I should've had a V-8!" moans Shawn Castle.

Below: You would think that these guys would have something better to do? Ahren Cahoon, Jory Garner, Rami Morris.

Dorm Life

Top Right: "Hey! Do ya mind! I'm studyin'," snarls Chris Sanford.

Friendships

Friendships. How do they develop? Is there some secret pattern that only a few can discover?

Our friendships here at MCC display several patterns of development. Some friends have grown up together; some become friends because they are roommates; others meet through a mutual friend; and still others develop from hobbies, ministries, or athletic teams. No matter which pattern a friendship follows, it is a piece of the puzzle that shapes one's character. And, according to MCC's own Dr. Hubbard, "Friendships are important because it is vital that we have the ability to establish and maintain long-lasting relationships."

"You shouldn't judge a book by its cover, nor a book by one chapter. So it is with a friendship; one hard chapter should not put the book on the shelf."

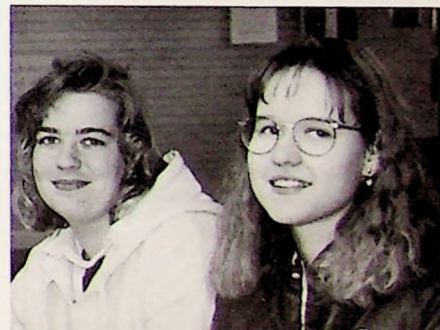

- Mandy Parrott

Below: Suitemates, Teresa McDonald and Rachel Awalt, take it easy relaxing.

Below: Early in the soccer game, the crowd concentrates more on socializing than with paying attention to the game.

Right: After a tremendous grab, Genesis Ferch's look seems to scream, "Now What?"

In the Beginning

Anticipation...Fear...Love...Dreams...
Insecurities...Excitement...Acceptance...

Let's face it. Leaving behind family and friends and beginning college is tough. There are a lot of people you don't know, and new experiences never tried. However, registration days, orientation week, and fall sports are all great ways for students to get to know one another.

The upper-classmen do their best to straighten out the wayward freshmen; and for the most part, they are successful. THANK YOU, Admissions Staff and StuCo, for organizing so many excellent opportunities for faculty and students to get to know one another.

Right: "I think that I know how to serve a volleyball by now!" states Tagan Sapp. Below: "Did you happen to see my glove?" asks Mark Webb.

Above: After MCC expresses appreciation for its supporters, Bob Renner accepts a plaque on behalf of Oakley Christian Church.

Right: In her workshop, Natalie McVay (1992 MCC Alumnus) encourages women to take the challenge to teens to abstain from premarital sex.

President's Appreciation Dinner and Woman's World

Churches and individuals who support MCC are really important to us. That is why President Cable hosts an annual appreciation dinner. Several special honors are awarded: Top Ten Supporting Churches, Top Ten Recruiting Churches, Volunteer of the Year, and Employee of the Year.

A major event in the college year is Woman's World. It is planned and directed by members of MCC Women (women who are employed by MCC or married to MCC employees). Alumni and students also get involved by greeting, hosting workshops, leading workshops, singing, and playing musical instruments. This twenty-six hour program provides inspiration, fellowship, and relaxation for women from Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado, and Nebraska.

Above: "God's design is for differences between men and women to be complementary," explain Dr. and Mrs. Hubbard in their workshop.

Above Left: Telling stories of Christians who have persevered, Dr. Eleanor Daniel urges the women to remember that, "We are hard pressed on every side, but not crushed."

Left: Delighted smiles appear when the scholarship winners hear that they will each receive $725 from last year's Woman's World offering.

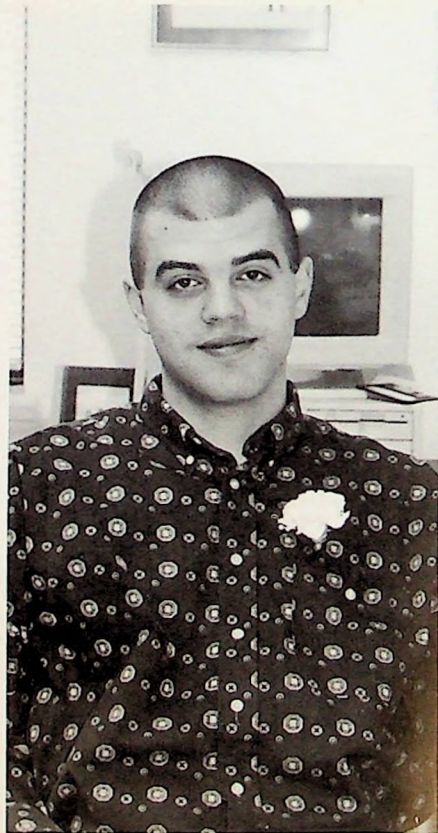

Right: "Pucker-up, Pete Miele!"

Below: "Duuuhhhh...", moans Dr. Hubbard as he comes back from memory's moment in another world.

Above: Caught in the middle of their mid-morning chat, are friends Nancy Swihart and Ruth Ann Warren.

Faculty/Staff Appreciation

Who would do...We appreciate...Thanks...

Seriously. What would we students do without the faculty/staff here at MCC? We would go crazy! For one thing, who would arrange all our schedules, loans, scholarships, and other financial helps? And what about our dearly loved mail--who would organize it? Who would organize and arrange our living quarters and conditions? Who would run MCC, its finances, and most importantly our nutrition? Without our faculty/staff who would guide us, and teach us? Who would make us think beyond average and who would give us wisdom and knowledge? And who would help us locate a book (etc.) to make our studies more easily understood?

Faculty/staff, you all do so much for each of us and we appreciate it! We hope you enjoyed StuCo's Faculty/Staff Appreciation Week; we hope you were encouraged by learning that we care and appreciate what you all do for us. May God bless each of you a hundred-fold for your giving spirits and shared lives. THANK YOU!

Spring Banquet

Banquets. A time to dress up and a time to be proper. A time to be formal and a time for memories.

Skip Day

Fun . . . Laughs . . . Team Sports . . .
Organized Games . . . Silliness . . . Prizes . . .

Could a person guess that finals are right around the weekend by the fun that everyone's having? Skip Day offers a day of rest for everyone and that includes faculty/staff. Students enjoy the great outdoors with friends, studying is put aside, and the fun is had. Play now, because the books will begin to consume your time during finals.

Organized games are full of surprises (egg yoke) and, of course, there's always the option of sitting with your friends, catching some sun, and watching the games. Volleyball and softball teams are in competition, determined not to give up the fight for first place. Winners receive free t-shirts, so the sweat is worth the prize. Everyone comes for fun and a get-away from the books. And it's worth it!

Above: Check out the spectators! Patty Dirks, Beth Mills, Kara Foster, Tony Armstrong, Jill Ballard, Ryan Carpenter, Eric Sanford, and Tracy Scott.

Graduation

The sixty-eighth annual commencement of Manhattan Christian College brought several new elements. The thirty-nine seniors participating formed the largest graduating class in the college's history. It was so large that the ceremony was moved to McCain Auditorium. Degrees awarded included five associate degrees, four bachelor of arts, twenty-nine bachelor of science, and one bachelor of theology. Four people also earned bachelor of science degrees at Kansas State University. Another element was observed by Academic Dean, Steve Isom, "It is gratifying to see such a high percentage of the graduates with future plans already in place--ministries, one-year internships, and graduate studies."

StuCo & Yearbook

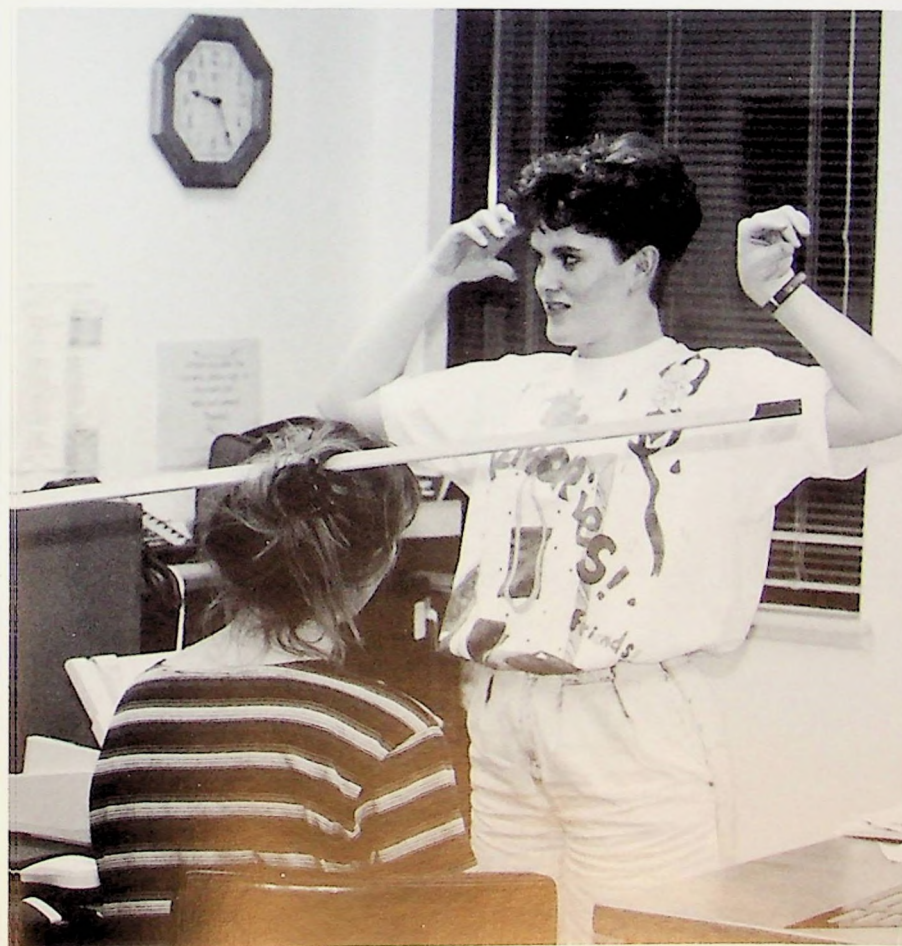

Starting this year on yearbook staff were ten students. Early days were filled with uncertain sales pitches and anxieties about raising enough money to cover the cost of the yearbooks, plus learning how to use the PageMaker computer software.

Those who stuck it out for second semester didn't have any clue as to what lay ahead of them. They selected layouts and began planning their pages. Soon there were just two students officially on staff, with two more helping as they could. Many hours and hard work have been involved in the assembly of this precious book of memories.

Fun was had, lessons learned, and experiences gained.

We pray that this finished product finds a special place in each of your hearts, as you, too, helped to make its memories possible.

Right: '95 Camp Team is: Rachel McVay, Jory Garner, Kara Foster, Joel Dyer, Amy Seehorn, Doug Bean, Tracee Kinzle, and Scott Thomson.

CAMP & TELE-TEAM

The Tele-Team, under the direction of Lisa Smith, did an excellent job of calling high school seniors and juniors who are prospective students. They called every Tuesday evening for three and a half hours. They did an excellent job communicating with students the opportunities at MCC.

Camp-Team is a lot like Ad-Team. Teams go to various camps around the United States where they serve as counselors, teachers, worship leaders, and recruiters for MCC. They also represent the student body of MCC. These teams are services that benefit our lives and others for the Kingdom of God.

Upper Left: Is that natural, Kara Foster?

Student Spiritual Life

We all need a time to grow spiritually. The student Spiritual Life Committee provides opportunities for us to grow in our walk with God, and enables us to help others in the process as well. This group of dedicated people has provided us with special chapel services during the evenings, a prayer walk, and the "See ya 'round the Bell Tower" prayer gathering. Through their dedication to personal spiritual growth they have touched others to reach the same goals. Terri Pecenka has been an excellent leader and role model for student spiritual life.

Top: Special chapel services enhance prayer life. Mr. Deckard, Jeff and Julie Aenk, and Rusty Thornley form one of the small groups in such a service.

Bottom: The attitude of prayerfulness extends beyond chapel. "Dear Heavenly Father . . ." pray Ahren Cahoon and Trudie Amos.

members do also. MCC students appreciate those times that Dr. Caulley accompanies the singing in chapel.

AD-TEAM/KIDS TEAM

Any major university attempts to put its best foot forward when visitors come onto campus. Manhattan Christian College is no different.

MCC's "best foot" is its Admissions and Kids Teams. These teams perform a variety of services. AD-Team members, for example, are involved in high school campus visits and special events on campus; they are also sent out to do a variety of ministries on the weekends. This plays an important role with the recruiting of young people to school. Kids Team is involved with the teaching of children. Team members are sent out to churches through Scholarshare or special events to teach about missions. Both ministries provide exciting opportunities for students to minister in a variety of ways.

Bottom: Caught in the act of playing with Play-Doh, Tami Davies says "Oh, great!"

"First Class" Mail Team and Gospel Teams

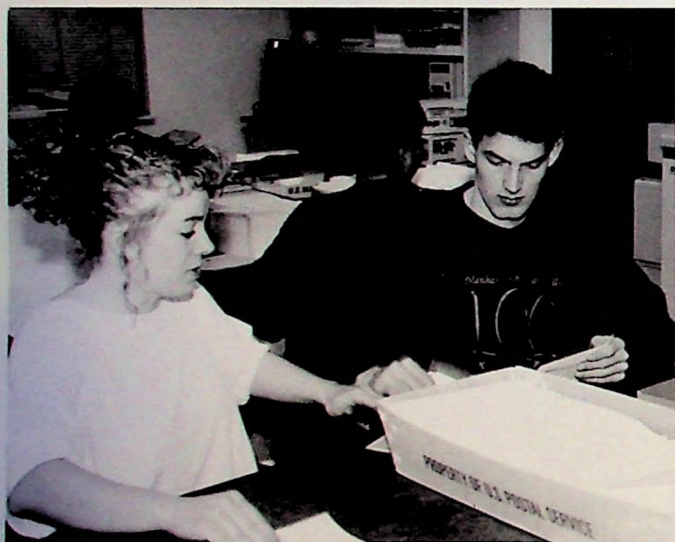

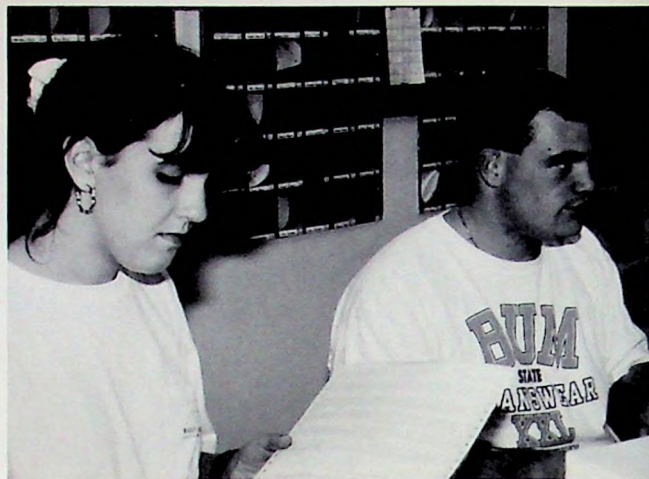

Drama, whether mime or skits, can bring interest into learning the Bible for both old and young. Singing, of course, allows people to rejoice and hear the praises offered to God. These teams provide a chance for students to represent the college while ministering to the needs of people.

"'First Class' Mail Team is a group of students who serve the Lord through the assistance they provide the mail room and development office. This great group of individuals plays a critical role in getting out mailings, newsletters, and other correspondence in a timely manner."

--Tracy Kirkpatrick

Top: "Man, I could be in bed by now!" dreams Clint Stoppel while Lisa Ewoldsen works diligently.

Bottom: "Look, Michelle Goebel, I know my alphabet so well I can do it with my eyes closed!" brags Dave Downing.

Above: "Stop it, Jeff Isaacs. You're putting them in the envelopes the wrong way!" cries Tracy Kirkpatrick.

Right: Tracy Kirkpatrick explains the technique of paper folding to Renee Price.

Below: "What's that?" shrieks Trudie Amos. "I don't know!" squirms Kristi Wilson.

Above: "Nee! Nee!" taunts Trudie Amos. "No, not nee!" cries Amy Ewoldsen. "Ha, we taunt you a second time," smirks Kristi Wilson.

Top: Marilyn Huffman, Chanda Underwood, Kim Whitehead, Melanie Allen, Rachel McVay, Penny Myers sing for Christ in an area church.

Bottom: "Ooooooh, there's some hairy fungus growing on Doug Bean's face!" freaks Tami Baker. Kristi Wilson is stunned by the sight.

REACHING OUT

What do Jefferson City Maximum Security Correctional Facility, Kansas City Union Mission, and retirement centers have in common? Ministry!

This year's StuCo-sponsored missions trip allowed City Union Mission to clean-up and re-organize to help with the needs of the people.

The visit to the retirement centers enables the young to share love and kindness with the elderly. The weekly visits consist of singing songs, accompanied by the guitar and piano, as all ages praise God.

The prison ministry group conducts cell to cell talks, and chapel services several times in a two-day visit. Each chapel consists of songs, sermons, devos, and small groups for encouragement and support.

Each ministry, no matter how different from another, is an outreach. Each one is just as important as the next and each one touches the lives of people.

Top: "Nope, fans, this isn't the Amy and Jason Show. We're workin' now," explain Amy Befort and Jason Schmidt.

Bottom: Barbara Louthan is really into her job.

Right: "Hey, there's a lot more air up here!" says Amy Befort.

Below: "Weel eet shock mee?" asks Mandy Parrott. "I don't know. Let me try!" answers Scott Wagner.

Christmas Ring & Easter Pageant

"We brought back the Christmas Ring this year because so many people want to hear bells at Christmas." Marsha Stevens, director of the two bell choirs, is proud that ringers, singers, and actors were able to help people begin their celebration of Jesus' birth.

In a similar way, the Easter Pageant establishes the focus for spring. The annual pageant features different songs and emphases each year. But always the focus is on the life of Christ, climaxing with His death, burial, and resurrection.

The pageant has become a community event as many men and women from the community participate as actors, musicians, stage crew, costumers, and prop crew.

Prayer Walk & Food Drive

A lot of hard work went into the planning and organization of this year's prayer vigil. The Student Spiritual Life Committee under the leadership of Terri Pecenka mailed out letters to every Christian college in America to invite them to pray with MCC on this special day. Among things prayed for were the nation, MCC, schools in general, and families.

This year's food drive again helped the Breadbasket, a local ministry. Many items were collected as a result of challenges between dorms.

Left: Joining hands for the prayer walk are Teresa McDonald and Eric Sanford.

Below: MCC students, faculty, and staff take time to pray for our school, and country.

"Together as One . . .

"And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds."

Graduates

*Where has the time gone?
When you entered college, graduation seemed so far away.
Perhaps there were times when you wondered if it would ever happen.
But now you have celebrated that graduation!
Family and friends have shared your excitement and given their blessings.
As you leave, you carry with you evidences of the years of work, study, and growth.
You came with talents, gifts, and dreams.
Your lives have been further shaped by things learned and experiences gained.
Memories of your years at MCC
will linger to be cherished, not only in your hearts but also in the hearts of fellow students, faculty, and staff who shared those years with you.
Now your feet are set on exciting paths that will lead you to the future you and God will share.
As you keep and nurture an ever maturing faith,
God can use you in great ways until we all meet again.
"Together as one ... through one."*

Philippians 4:13

Dear Derek,

Your dad talked about a daughter so much before you were born that I thought he would be disappointed with a son, but he wasn't.

He was so proud of you that he showed you off everywhere. I hardly got to carry you if he was along. He started taking you with him for coffee when you were very young, because he liked so much to show you off. He continued to take you even with the "cape."

He was so pleased with your interest and gift for music. He would have really enjoyed a "Derek and Holly" concert, especially after December, 1993.

Derek, I also am very proud of the son the Lord gave us. You have been and are one of the extreme pleasures of my life. I thank God for you every day.

Love
Mom

Jason,

We congratulate you. May the spirit of the Lord always touch you.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Congratulations, Brandon!

We are so very proud of you! You have never waived from the call God placed on your heart the summer of your high school freshman year. We have watched you press on toward your goal and finish, even through some hard times.

May God hold you always in His love and care and lead you in the work He has set for you to do. Do it with all your might. You have been greatly gifted for ministry to young people. Galatians 2:10.

We love you very much.
